

IF I COULD CHANGE ONE THING ABOUT MY COMMUNITY, ^{BY WRITING} WHAT COULD IT BE?

If I could change anything about my community it would be giving mob justice. When one does an offence in my community and is discovered you wouldn't want to witness what happens to him/her. My community believes strongly on a ear for a ear and does it diligently. Thieves are burnt alive, murdered and other offenders deal with no mercy. I know what they have done is wrong, they have broken the law so I expect them to be sent to court and later to prison not to be sheered like goats or even worse than dogs. I once witnessed a robber been burnt and the memory of it still hunts my dreams, you would think they were dealing with a beast and not a human. So for many reasons luck to enjoy right of life trauma caused to onlookers and so many others - I wish to write that this would be what I would write to change in my community. It would be good and fair if a person is found guilty of an offense is taken to prison where he can be corrected and taught of better ways to make a living other than crime. It would also help other people who are out there doing criminal offenses change because they would learn from their friends better paths. So writing this I wish that my community would trust in the law to deliver justice and the best solution, for surely there is always a better way to deal with criminals other than murdering them. Whatever they have done does not disqualify them from being humans and for sure doesn't make them

Incorrectable.

A community that delivers justice in the right way I wish for criminals are given a chance to change and live a better non-criminal life I desire that's why I would only write this if given the chance.
